

HAMILTON, JOHN MAXWELL

Jack Hamilton is Executive Vice-Chancellor & Provost, Louisiana State University. He was previously dean of LSU's Manship School of Mass Communication. He came to LSU in 1992 after more than 20 years as a journalist and public servant. Hamilton has reported in the United States and abroad for the Milwaukee Journal, the Christian Science Monitor, and ABC Radio, among others, and was a longtime commentator on MarketPlace, broadcast nationally by Public Radio International. He is author or co-author of five books and currently is working on a history of American foreign newsgathering. Hamilton is editor of a book series, "From Our Correspondent," which brings to life forgotten memoirs by foreign correspondents. In the course of his career, Hamilton directed a Society of Professional Journalists' project to improve news coverage of the Third World, served at USAID during the Carter Administration, oversaw nuclear non-proliferation issues for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and managed a World Bank education program.

Hamilton is author or co-author of six books. The most recent is Journalism's Roving Eye: A History of American Foreign Reporting, which won the Goldsmith Prize and other awards. Hamilton serves on the board of the International Center for Journalists, where he is treasurer. He was a Pulitzer Prize jurist in 1999 and 2000, held a fellowship in 2002 at the Shorenstein Center for Press, Politics and Public Affairs at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, and is member of the Council on Foreign Relations. He was named the Freedom Forum Journalism Administrator of the Year for 2003. Hamilton earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in journalism from Marquette and Boston Universities respectively, and a doctorate in American Civilization from George Washington University.

Mr. Maxwell is willing to hold presentations about:

- Foreign correspondence